This 1945 Case SO was purchased two years ago in Trinidad, Colorado. The current owner completed much of the restoration work.

The "SO" was one of five models in the J.I. Case "S" series of tractors. The "SO" model served the needs of orchard and grove farmers with "...two-plov power in a fully equipment orchard tractor with disk-type turning brakes," according to the Case Model "S" Series brochure from 1945.

"Here is a tractor built for better farming. It is more than a piece of machinery. It is modern power for your whole system of farming. With a Case "S" series tractor, you are equipped to turn your plans into profits, to put your knowledge of better farming into practice. it give you the flexible efficient power you need to handle every job faster, better, easier."

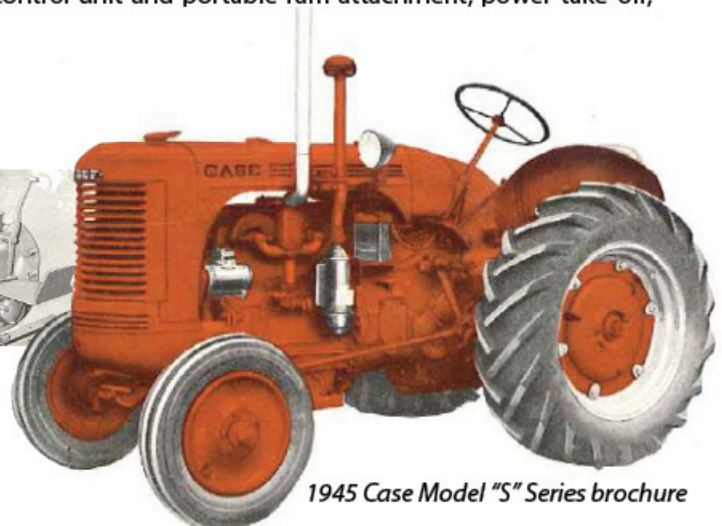

When released, the Case SO was sold standard with a 4-speed transmission, transmission and pulley brake, differential brakes for quick turning, a swinging drawbar, heat indicator, thermostat, oil pressure gauge, comfort seat and belt pulley. It had 5.50-16 front wheels and 12-26 rear wheels.

Special equipment for the model SO included a hydraulic control unit and portable ram attachment, power take-off,
